

An overview of Quintiles

The landscape of healthcare is changing; the entire process has grown more complex as the NHS, alongside healthcare providers around the world, looks for greater efficiencies, accelerated outcomes, reduced complexity and demonstrations of real value. We call this the New Health.

We have evolved since our beginning in 1982 as a clinical research organisation. Today we are a global $3bn provider of services to the healthcare and biopharmaceutical industry, delivering solutions in clinical, commercial, consulting and capital and employing over 20,000 people in 59 countries. We leverage knowledge collected from decades of direct contact with patients and healthcare personnel both in the UK and around the world, to inform strategic thinking and new ways of working; offering our customers tremendous flexibility in tailoring a path to successful results.

Quintiles works with the NHS and biopharma to develop and introduce treatments which will deliver real value to patients and the NHS in this complicated and yet promising world, which we call the New Health.

Making people healthier: expertise + ethics

In our mission to help you make people healthier, we couple deep therapeutic expertise with an unwavering commitment to safety and outcomes at all times.

- We have expertise across all key therapeutic areas, with particularly relevant UK expertise in the management of long term conditions such as diabetes, COPD, cardiovascular disease and oncology
- We have embedded in our organisation robust medical and business ethics training, a council on research ethics and whistle blower policies

Making people healthier: patient centric services

Our range of services and proven expertise in project management in the UK from NHS Healthchecks, adherence initiatives, audit and clinical review through to integrated disease management are designed to help you deliver

- targeted interventions and services which result in improved health outcomes and patient experiences
- decreased system costs through the reduction of the burden associated with non-compliance, consistent management of diagnosed patients and earlier identification and diagnosis
- improved productivity by integrating new and existing services across the patient pathway, clearly tracking and demonstrating the benefits

In short, we aim to help turn healthy ideas into healthy people.
